My steam shovel costs me depreciation on the shovel and the crew together cost me $1.00 a day to keep the work going. My horse and man cost $1.00 per day. But I had nine horses and men and not a single one of them was doing any loading, which makes it very expensive. By using a steam shovel, reducing the cost of hauling dirt, and putting the dirt in the wagons, I figure my cost per cubic yard of dirt is $19.50. I say, the government ought to use steam shovels instead of shoveling.

Credit for initiating the movement to do justice to Barry belongs to the late Martin J. Griffin, of Philadelphia, who assisted until he died. The crusade was then taken up by Michael J. Ryan, the present collector of Philadelphia. He enlisted the United Irish League of America, of which he is president. The American Irish Historical society, of which President Wilson is a member, began to work about the same time. The Friday Sons of St. Patrick and the Ancient Order of Hibernians soon followed, and for the next two years every patriotic Irishman in the country had his heart in the work. WANT AFFIDAVITS
OFFERED TO COMBAT
NEW TRIAL MOTION

In connection with the case, the affidavit by Ivy Jones reaffirmed the evidence given by him at the trial of Frank in which he swore he saw Jim Conley at Forsyth and Hunter streets at 2 o'clock, April 26, 1913; that Conley was not drunk; and that he had Conley at the corner of Hunter and Forsyth streets, near Conley's home, some time after 2 o'clock.

An affidavit by N. A. Garner, deputy to the solicitor's office, told of the difference he encountered in subpoenaing C. Duffy, one of the state's recanting witnesses, who has reaffirmed his original testimony.

Affidavits by James Doyal, Bob Wagner and other city detectives were to the effect that they had seen Jim Conley at the head of the parade at Forsyth and Hunter streets, near Conley's home, and had heard him discuss the Frank case. Duffy stated that at the time he cut his finger, prior to the murder of Mary Phagan, he held the knife around the wound and prevented it from bleeding, and the blood from the wound did not drop on the car, except a few drops at the machine.

REPUTATES REPUDIATION. The next affidavit was from J. C. Duffy, to the defense, and reaffirmed the testimony given at the trial of Frank. Just before making the affidavit, he said, he read over the transcript of the evidence given by him at Frank's trial, and that it was absolutely true that at the time he cut his finger he dropped no blood at the entrance to the ladies' dressing room or on the water cooler, that he changed his evidence after talking with C. W. Barker and Al Arnold, his brother-in-law, and that he had signed the paper which he signed, and that it was absolutely true that he had signed a statement where he was cut.

Two months ago, testified Dalton, he was working in Fort Myers, Fla., and was there visited by Detective Burke and after seeing him two or three times, answered a special delivery message from Burke and called on him at his room in the Bradford hotel. BATS BURKE OFFERED BRIBE. This part of Dalton's affidavit read as follows: "We talked about the Frank case. He asked me about how Mr. Dorsey and Starnes and Campbell questioned me before the trial and whether they didn't try to make me say things that were not so, and I told him 'No,' and that they had acted in a perfectly proper way in their questions to me, and like gentlemen in every way except one, which was that they hadn't let me from going into the trial as they said they would try to do."

"Burke then asked me if I would sign a paper to go before the pardon board, a paper to go before the pardon board, which he said was then in session in Atlanta. He said he wanted me to sign the paper to help get the pardon board to keep Frank from hanging. I told him that I would have to wait until I talked it over with Mr. Heifner."

"He offered to give me $100 if I would sign the paper which he showed me. This paper was written out in handwriting. I didn't sign this paper."

DALTON SIGNED PAPER. "The next day he came out to Fort-town, near Fort Myers, where I was working. He had a paper then which he said he wanted me to sign, because he said he had to leave for Atlanta right away. This was a typewritten paper. He said this was just a paper to go before the pardon board and the same as the paper he had shown me the night before. He repeated his offer to pay me $100 if I would sign it. He read a part of it, but I was so busy I didn't have time to listen to the reading of the whole paper. The part he read didn't say anything about taking back evidence, or about my having said anything that wasn't true at the trial. He pressed me so hard that I finally signed the paper which he had."

"I asked him when I would get my money and he said for me to come up to his hotel that night and he would give it to me. I went to the hotel that night but he had gone. He had packed up his things and left, the clerk said. I asked if he had left anything for me and was told he had not."

"In addition to saying he would pay me $100, Burke had told me that he would give me a pass from Jacksonville to Atlanta to use any time soon, for I had told him that I had a mileage book which would take me to Jacksonville but that I wanted to come to Atlanta some time this spring. Burke did not leave either the $100 or the pass for me, though he said he would give me both."

"One thing that Burke told me in my talk with him at Fort Myers was that he tried to get to see me before my testimony at the Frank trial and that he had followed me to my boarding house two or three times trying to get to see me."

A Merry May Sale of Muslin Underwear

The Exact Meaning of Which Is SAVINGS

SAVINGS for all women planning their wardrobe for the long summer.

SAVINGS on exquisite touseaux for June brides.

A CLEARAWAY of many odd lots of garments slightly soiled from counter display and handling.

So all in all it's a sale to read of and then to attend.

Its meaning is clean-cut and positive; it carries a message of savings to practically every woman.

We have just unpacked big cases of new undermuslins that we bought to your advantage. They show the new treatment of laces and embroideries, the new uses of nets in gowns, the new corset covers with semi-fitting backs and princess slips that open in front, slashed petticoats—many novelties and they are all marked at substantial savings on what they are actually worth, what they would cost at any other time. With these goes every odd lot, broken assortment we have in stock and the Merry May Sale is on!

Interesting Features of the White Sale

Gowns

AT 48c—Some twelve styles, of cambric, nainsook and muslin, trimmed with embroideries and linen laces. Slip-over styles and high neck and long sleeve styles.

AT 69c—$1.00 gowns that are a bit mussed. Beside the nainsooks there are many of crepe that need no washing. Charming styles, particularly those with the low, round neck, edged with cluny and ribbon-run.

AT 89c—Wonderfully fine $1.25 and $1.50 styles that are marked for clearance. Slip-over styles and high neck and long sleeve styles.

AT 98c—Exquisitely dainty nainsooks and laces and embroideries, made into styles you are sure to marvel at. More than twenty-five styles to choose from, featuring the net and the Swiss trimmings that are so popular right now. Empire and Bishop styles among these new ones. Also at this price are slightly soiled gowns that were $1.50 and $1.65.

Drawers

AT 19c—25c values, and unusual at that, since they are of sturdy muslin and neatly trimmed with linen laces, with embroidery edges; then the plain style with cluster tucks. Buy as many pairs as you want.

AT 39c—75c Drawers that are mussed somewhat; nainsook, bloomers, knickerbockers and flat legs, edged with laces and embroideries. They will go very quickly!

AT 48c—A woman's eyes will tell her the value. Nainsook and crepe; the new colette drawers, semi-fitted, knickerbockers and bloomers; the trimmings (when used) are dainty to a fine degree.

Corset Covers

AT 35c—Styles we sell regularly at 50c; neat embroideries and linen laces, ribbon-run, on sheer nainsook, styled as is right—low yokes.

AT 48c—Of the moment's style. Full fronts and semi-fitting backs; camisole effects with Swiss and lace trimmings.

Princess Slips

AT 79c—Were $1.25 to $1.75; now 79c because they have become mussed from handling. Many styles, lace and embroidery trimmed.

AT 98c—New values, certainly; flounces, yokes and arms trimmed in Baby Irish laces.

AT $1.25—The new open-front princess slips, fitting loose from shoulders, and full at waist; embroidery and lace trimmed; slashed skirt.

Petticoats

AT 49c—A muslin petticoat with scalloped flounce; machine embroidered.

AT 50c—A muslin fitted petticoat with hemstitched hem.

AT 59c—A heavy cambric petticoat with double panel.

AT 98c—Featuring the light dotted Swiss flounces.

AT $1.25—Dainty, narrow petticoats with flat flounces of laces and embroideries slashed.

Camisoles

AT 89c—$1.25 Camisoles of lace and crepe de chine and ribbons; small sizes only; pink, light blue and white.

Bridal Sets

AT HALF PRICE—French sets and American made sets, two and three pieces. A rare opportunity for June brides.

ANOTHER CAMPAIGN FALSEHOOD NAILED

Atlanta, Ga., May 4th, 1914.

Mr. T. C. Waters, City.

Dear Sir—Having been called upon by you to make a statement regarding the opening of Waters avenue, I am glad to say that I know of my own personal knowledge that citizens of Hapeville and vicinity have been advocating and urging the opening of this road for more than three years. Since the first of January of this year, in company with a committee from the Hapeville council, I appeared before the board of county commissioners and urged the completion of this work.

Yours very truly,
JOHN D. HUMPHRIES,
Mayor City of Hapeville.

Mr. S. B. Turman, who is campaign manager for my opponent and a member of the board knew these facts when he wrote the card in the Sunday papers. Mr. Voter is this a fair deal?

TULL C. WATERS.

OSCAR MILLS "CALLS" WATERS FOR FAILURE TO EXPLAIN RECORD

Mr. Tull C. Waters has a wall in the morning paper. It's the wall of a desperate man STARING DEFEAT in the face.

He walls of the ring and the looting of the treasury of Fulton County.

Speaking of "looting," how is this, Mr. Taxpayer?

In 1912 the Public Works Committee, WATERS and ANDERSON forming a majority, paved the road in front of WATERS' FARM, and PAVED WESLEY AVENUE in front of Anderson's colonial home. Waters introduced and had his committee O. K. the grading and paving of Macon Drive and Waters Avenue, both of which run to, and about, WATERS' PRIVATE PROPERTY.

Waters says he lost control in 1913.

In 1914 the members whom he termed the ring made him Chairman of the Board. As Chairman he named General ANDERSON and HIMSELF as a majority in control of the 1914 Public Works Committee.

What has this 1914 Committee done?

Graded Waters Avenue; established a new camp up near General Anderson's 200-acre estate; adopted a new survey for the Powers Ferry road which diverts this road from the route which has been in use for 60 years, and the convicts are actually at this time at work building a five-mile road which splits the General's entire estate, giving him some 7,000 feet of road frontage.

"Looting!" Poor treasury—this one "job" will cost the taxpayers THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS, and this is not the only extravagant sum which the WATERS-ANDERSON DONALDSON—"ring" has wasted for the taxpayers.

Mr. Waters, you have declined to answer several questions which bear directly on YOUR OWN RECORD.

Why haven't you started the Butler and Highland trunk sewer by April 15th to May 1st, as you promised the City and the long suffering citizens in that section.

Why have you disregarded your own 1914 program, and moved up or switched certain work to influence votes in this election?

Why did the City turn down your proposition for 1914 paving, in which YOU AGREED to pay $47.00 a ton for asphalt to a concern that has had this county tied up for ten years?

The City, to protect itself from your scheme, has been forced to buy a mixing plant at a cost of nearly $14,000, and yet the City says they will SAVE ENOUGH THIS YEAR ALONE in royalties to more than pay for this plant?

How much longer WOULD YOU have the taxpayers pay handsome ROYALTIES to this corporation?

Hasn't this concern, with the help of YOURSELF and ANDERSON, done some "looting"?

I am in this race on my own account, urged by hundreds of my friends who think I am qualified to fill the place.

I feel sure of being elected, and it shall be my purpose to be progressive, act intelligently on all matters, help lower the tax rate, which can be done by applying business methods in County affairs, urge the importance of modern equipment so that the urgent demands of our citizens can be met. You will have no cause of regret if you vote for—

OSCAR MILLS
For County Commissioner.

BELIEVE ALL ATLANTA IN FAVOR OF GRADY BONDS

Officials Assert City Needs Greater Hospital More Than Any Other Improvement

Within something like the next thirty-six hours, the voters of Atlanta will decide whether the little group of worn-out buildings at Armstrong and Butler is to continue to serve as Atlanta's city hospital, or is to be replaced by a modern, efficient, and greater structure capable of caring properly for the city's sick and injured.

The conviction at Grady headquarters today was that Atlanta would decide in favor of the greater hospital. No one was standing around and offering bets on the subject, but that was the general conviction. The workers at headquarters realize that the bonds have to contend with one big difficulty. Preliminary polls leave very little question that the requisite two-thirds of the registered vote is for the bonds, but there is still the important matter of getting that vote into the ballot boxes. It has been discovered that a good many voters, when asked about the bonds, are apt to reply, "O, yes, I'm for them." It is the "O, yes" of the voter who troubles the workers at headquarters.

It is going to take more than an "O, yes-I'm-for-them" spirit to pass a Grady bonds. If Atlanta had adopted the "O, yes-I'm-for-them" attitude toward the regional bank, the Shriners' convention, grand opera, and the sundry other things which distinguish Atlanta from other cities of similar size, the eminent probability is that Atlanta would not be distinguished from other cities of similar size. It would simply be another of the colorless dots on the railway map.

The "O, yes-I'm-for-them" spirit never got Atlanta anything yet. Atlanta needs a new city hospital. It needs a new city hospital more than it needs any other public improvement. The workers at headquarters are pretty thoroughly convinced of this. They are not a bit afraid of the "O, yes-I'm-for-them" spirit. There can't be much argument about the facts about Grady, and the facts have been published with sufficient frequency to impress the public mind. Every one knows that Grady hospital isn't half enough to take care of those who need its services. Every one knows that Grady hospital is twenty-three years behind the times. Every one knows that Atlanta has the poorest city hospital of any city of its size in the United States. In consideration of these facts, the average voter is apt to conclude that a new hospital is the best thing for Atlanta. The bond issue requires that two-thirds of the registered voters go to the polls and put their conclusions into the ballot boxes marked "For the bonds." In other words, the bond issue requires action.

Now, it is well known that conviction is one thing and action another. If every man were in the habit of acting on his convictions, there would be no need for any need for a Grady hospital. The population would be rolling in wealth. The voters who convert their convictions into action is the big difficulty between Atlanta's present knowledge that she needs a new hospital, and the carrying up of the first shovel of dirt.

The greater Grady bonds require two-thirds of the registered vote. This does not mean two-thirds of the entire vote cast. There isn't a doubt that the bonds will get that. It means two-thirds of the entire vote registered, which is quite another thing. No election in a large city ever yet polled the full registered vote. People move from one ward into another. People are called out of town. People are a hurry to get to business or to go to the theater. People decide that the issue will carry without their individual support, and leave the voting to someone else.

WANT ACCENT ON VOTE. In the balloting for a greater Grady, every vote which is not cast will be a vote against the bond issue. Not to go to the polls is to vote against the bonds. A disregard to the city's great need more than the statement, "O, yes, I'm for them." The voter who goes to the polls and votes "For the bonds" is the voter who gets that tomorrow, Atlanta will have a new hospital. If they don't get it, all the conviction in the world won't prevent the bonds from being defeated.

Arrangements have been made by the bond workers to have a Grady bonds campaign as close to the county election boxes as possible. The law provides that there must be a separate box for each ward. It is taken, however, to have this room in the nearest possible proximity to the county boxes. The voter will only have to take a step from the box to the other. N. H. Kirkpatrick, secretary of bond committees, if followed, would come pretty near assuring the success of the bonds. It is that the voter take care of the bonds first, and look after the county election later.

"County elections come every year or so," said Mr. Kirkpatrick. "This is the only the second time in twenty-three years, however, that the people have had a chance on Grady bonds." Of one thing the voter may be assured: the man who is opposed to the bonds—and there are some people who are just so naturally against any kind of civic improvement that they would vote against taking heaven into the civic limits—will take care to find the bond box, and register his vote. If those who are in favor of the bonds take care to do the same, Atlanta will have a greater Grady.

HEAD OF FIRST CHRISTIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL DESIGNS

Superintendent C. V. LeCraw Gives Up Work After Thirteen Years' Service

After thirteen years' service as superintendent of the First Christian Sunday school, C. V. LeCraw resigned from that position Sunday. Formerly, tendering his resignation to the board of officers of the First Christian church, who will elect his successor.

When the announcement was made at the Sunday school Sunday morning, friends flocked around him to express their regret and to ask him to reconsider. Mr. LeCraw's business has necessitated his being absent from the city much of the time within the past year, however, and this, with the heavy demand on his time, is given as the reason for the necessity of his resignation. Under the supervision of Mr. LeCraw the First Christian Sunday school of about 180 to an average attendance of more than 400. During the famous attendance contest of 1912 with the Second Baptist Sunday school, the First Christian made a new world's record, with an attendance of more than 4,000 people. During the past winter, when the weekly reports of all the Sunday schools were published in the press for several months, the First Christian was at the top nine-tenths of the time, and it has been to a large extent the leadership of Mr. LeCraw that the school has made such tremendous growth and has attained its present eminent position.

MAYOR SWINGS ON MAN WHO JOSTLES WOMAN

Fails to Land Punch, but Gives Chase and Causes Arrest of Joe Siket

Overcome with indignation when a man named Joe Siket bumped into Mrs. R. E. Church on Whitehall street in front of Nunnally's at 8 o'clock Sunday night, Mayor James Woodland, after swerving viciously at the man's chest, made a dash which ended in the capture.

Mrs. Church was walking with her husband, a attorney, when the man who had previously bumped into the mayor, collided with her. Mr. Church turned and seized him by the collar, but Mayor Woodland, who had been in the Church to "turn him loose and let me have him."

The man broke away just as the mayor or swung at his jaw, and ran west down Broad street, toward the old Douglas and Wicket, standing on the corner, seeing Mayor Woodland in pursuit, also jumping the chase.

A large crowd was now behind the fugitive, the patrolmen, who had been following the mayor, caught the man at the Broad street end of the chase, and placed him under arrest, while the crowd, recognizing the mayor, cheered him loudly.

INSULT NOT CONSIDERED SUFFICIENT FOR A DUEL

Arbitrators Decide M. Caillaux and M. d'Aillieres Shall Not Fight

(By Associated Press.) PARIS, May 4.—The duel which resulted from the challenge sent Saturday by Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance, to Fernand d'Aillieres, an opponent in the recent election for the chamber of deputies, has been called off, saying clean editors would refuse to become arbiters.

It was a reference to the killing of Gaston Calixte, editor of the Figaro, by M. Caillaux's wife.

The seconds met yesterday and failed to agree, the representatives of M. d'Aillieres arguing the words did not contain an insult, and that M. Caillaux or the electors and in addition concerned a matter of public interest. It was therefore concluded that M. Caillaux was not entitled to demand satisfaction by a duel.

RAISE FUND TO ASSIST IN CAPTURE OF MURDERER

$500 Pledged at Funeral of Harry Wolfe, Who Died From Bullet of Highwayman

The sum of $500 was pledged at the funeral of Harry Wolfe, who died from a bullet of a highwayman who shot and killed him.

This sum was given by various Atlanta merchants, personal friends of Wolfe and others, who declare they would like to call an end to burglary and murder of storekeepers in Atlanta. Morris Lichtenstein was named treasurer.

Some time Monday a delegation will go before the mayor and general council and ask the city to appropriate a fund as a reward for Wolfe's slayer.

MUCH JEWELRY LOST DURING GRAND OPERA

Jewelry to the amount of $3,000 was stolen last or near the auditorium during grand opera performances last week. Mrs. J. Little, of the Peacock street, reported to the police that she lost $1,000. Both ladies offer handsome rewards for the return of the lost articles.

TREATY WITH COLOMBIA PUT BEFORE CONGRESS

(By Associated Press.) BOGOTA, Colombia, May 4.—The Colombian minister of the interior has presented to congress for ratification the treaty between Colombia and the United States, settling the long standing dispute over the partition of Panama. It is generally thought the minority of the senate will oppose the fight against the treaty which, however, is favored by the majority.

NEIGHBOR ASKED FOR INFORMATION

Which Was Promptly Disclosed and She Lost no Time in Profiting Thereby

MIAMI, Okla.—"One of my neighbors," says Mrs. Hannah M. Turley, of this town, "came to my house last week, and said: 'Mrs. Turley, what did you take to help you so quickly?' I told her it was just Cardui, the woman's tonic, and she said: 'I wish I looked as well as you do.' I told her if she would only get a box worth of Cardui, and take it, she would. So she sent her husband to town to get the Cardui, and commenced taking it. She looked so pale and sick all the time, but is beginning to look better already.

As to how it helped me—I suffered for about 5 years, with womanly troubles, and became so weak and nervous, and would suffer such pain every month, that I thought, at times, I would die. Was in such condition that I couldn't do my work half of the time and would have awful smothering spells.

My husband bought me a full treatment of Cardui (6 bottles) and I can truthfully say that after I took the last bottle I was well. Am enjoying the best of health now, and am so thankful to Cardui."

Take Cardui for your trouble. You will never regret it. Begin today. Ask your nearest druggist. (Adv.)

OUR ASTROLOGER

"He stars tell me, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE FOR THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1914.

Favorable and unfavorable influences mingle today. The sun gives promise of fair fortune to all who seek favors, but Saturn strongly adverse, while Mercury and Mars are mildly evil in their way.

On this day all persons who wield power should prosper. It is a time supposed to be peculiarly beneficial to government officials and all who covet honors or preferment.

There is a lucky omen for dealers in gold articles that are fashioned of the precious metal.

By this same sign, however, all who solicit aid from persons in authority should be careful to avoid those who are old, for Saturn's evil influence is held to affect the aged most unfortunately, making them frangible and unjust.

Quarrels should be avoided while this configuration prevails. It is not a fortunate rule for domestic peace.

Danger of accident is said to be increased while this astral government lasts. It is not an auspicious day for beginning long journey.

Labor disturbances are prosaized for this week, and they may be especially difficult to control.

Australia is likely to experience serious troubles among mine workers and others who labor under conditions conducive to discontent.

The moon in a sign declared especially conducive to courage and perseverance.

There is a prognostication that within two years Mexico will be the scene of great commercial activity due to the influx of gentlemen of neighboring countries who will undertake vast enterprises.

When that threatens danger to the Pacific coast is seen by the astrologer, who predicts that the Oriental invasion is a possibility following the world's disunion in San Francisco.

As Venus is passing through Gemini the brilliancy of the London season is likely to be memorable. Many wedding will take place in families of old money.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be careful to avoid falls, sturges, or injuries. There is an augury of success.

IMPORTANT MEETING.
The United Reunion Memorial association will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, May 5, at 10 o'clock, in the "Woman's Center." All members are urged to attend.

Arrangements for the formal dedication.

W. C. T. U.
The "Woman's Center" will hold a noted conference on Tuesday, May 5, at 10 o'clock, in the "Woman's Center." All members are urged to attend.

President of the National W. C. T. U. will speak in Trinity church at 7:30 o'clock.

Interested persons are urged to attend.

MRS. MARY L. McLENDON.
President of the National W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Spaulding Entertained
Mrs. Jack J. Spaulding, Jr., a recent bride, has been tendered many lovely parties. In Cleveland, Ohio, during her short residence in that city.

Last week Mrs. Wilton Hickox, who was formerly Miss Martha Calhoun, of New York City, formerly of Atlanta, entertained at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Spaulding.

The luncheon was given at the Cleveland Country club, and the guests included a number of the city's social leaders.

Mrs. Hickox will entertain in honor of Miss Prince the middle of May, when she will visit her sister, Mrs. Jack Spaulding, Jr.

Mrs. Stephen gave a luncheon recently at her home on Euclid avenue, at which several of the debutantes were entertained.

TAG DAY ON THURSDAY

Thursday, May 7, the ladies of the Sheltering Arms will have Tag day for 1914.

On that Atlanta's fairest and prettiest society girls will take possession of every office building and street corner and sell tags to all Atlanta for the benefit of the Sheltering Arms.

The Sheltering Arms operates five day nurseries throughout the city. These nurseries take the little children of mothers who must leave home during the day, and care for them until the mother returns from her daily toil.

The children are cared for in the nurseries in the very early hours of the morning and are taken away in the evening. Food, shelter and care are furnished for the children by skilled and trained persons, trained nurses are at hand, play rooms are provided, kindergarten teachers take care of those who are old enough to receive such teaching.

At last's best specialists and physicians hold themselves subject to the call of the nurseries and the needs of these children. Two hundred and fifty children are cared for each day. They are in healthy surroundings, and an effort is made to improve their minds and bodies.

The money you give for a tag goes to the support of these institutions. The association is non-sectarian, national, and has no object except this general charity.

The city has learned to welcome Tag day and to look forward to it as the one day of the year when everybody contributes to the gentleness of charities conducted by Atlanta's women.

Silver Tea
A silver tea will be given Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. R. Hebert for the benefit of the Sheltering Arms.

Two city officials received a "call down" for devoting part of their time to county politics while on the city's payroll. So far so good; but how about "Captain" Mayo drawing $116.00 of the city's money for services during the past month of April, while he, too, is campaigning the city and county for the office of sheriff?

"Introduce Me To Your Family"

"I can present the best of references from many families in your neighborhood. My name is and my reputation is most excellent. My quality is supreme; my name stands for the very topmost—the best of its kind—and I guarantee upon introduction to become a regular visitor at your home, welcomed by all the family."

"If you believe your family deserves the best, then you really require me and my associates—providing them with the best."

"So take me home and introduce me. The family will make me welcome."

Mrs. Spaulding Entertained
Mrs. Jack J. Spaulding, Jr., a recent bride, has been tendered many lovely parties. In Cleveland, Ohio, during her short residence in that city.

Last week Mrs. Wilton Hickox, who was formerly Miss Martha Calhoun, of New York City, formerly of Atlanta, entertained at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Spaulding.

The luncheon was given at the Cleveland Country club, and the guests included a number of the city's social leaders.

Mrs. Hickox will entertain in honor of Miss Prince the middle of May, when she will visit her sister, Mrs. Jack Spaulding, Jr.

Mrs. Stephen gave a luncheon recently at her home on Euclid avenue, at which several of the debutantes were entertained.

Doscher Pitched Well, and Crackers Won Sunday's Game: Play Today

LITTLE PAL---DO THEY THINK HE'S A TRAITOR?

-BY LEO

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

CLIMES TO THE WEATHER BUREAU.
Mr. Official Forecaster, Climatic Bureau at the gate, High-muck-a-muck and the master of weather were having a late. Where do you think you are stationed? Where do you think you are at? In Iceland or Greenland, or some other mean land. Around about $8.14?

You who are daily inane. Feeding us cyclones and snows--Us who are whispering vainly To dream in the sun with the rose; Think of the solar day, Wild about for floor that break--We who are weary of Robert E. Peary And look upon Cook as a fake?

Mr. Official Forecaster, Of blizzards and northerly gales, Wind-bringing, rain interloper, From the country of icebergs and whale, Where do you think you are living, With the Eskimo clan? See here, old chap, take a look at the map--This is the Month of MAY, man!

Harold Hilton topped young Mr. Outmet by nine strokes in the first eighteen-hole test, but if you'll remember the exhibition count, Houston peeled the hide off the Yankee and the Yanks in turn with the regular stuff on up to the Athletic. You can't always tell from the soup just how the dessert will taste.

THEREBY PROVING--
Cy Young smoked big black cigars and he stucco. In the Big Show until he was forty-four years old.
Hans Wagner doesn't hit the weed to any extent and he is still a star in the same Big Show at forty.

It is in no sense a knock at the popularity of baseball to state that 1914 has offered the most blighting April yet known.
This blight has come from three sources--the weather, the Mexicans and the Reds--and attacked and harassed as it has been upon three sides the only wonder is that things have gone as smoothly.

LIGHT AHEAD.
There is, however, with budding May at hand, this gleam of light ahead--viz., the threatened runaway dash of Giants and Mackmen has been greatly exaggerated and the place of a soggy, uninteresting center in each league there are signs of abounding competition and furor for quite a spell, once the weather shifts and the north pole slips back where it belongs.

NOT YET.
No--baseball isn't frozen at the throat. Wait until May and June sunlight thaws out the frozen athletes and double-headers begin to pop all over the landscape. There will be enough activity around there to more than make up for the start.
The fanatic can be blocked and repulsed for the time being, but he can never be wholly thwarted. The virus is still in his sluggish veins, and once the winter war of attrition begins with renewed velocity. As an average proposition, things even up over a long stretch, and it wouldn't jar us a bit to see an even better season than usual after June 1--provided we have a fairly decent weather week between now and Thanksgiving.

Baseball is popular enough, but there is still a limit. And you can't expect even the most rabid fanatic to follow three or four leagues through a combination blizzard and cloudburst, with the whizz of flying bullets to call his attention elsewhere.

DIFFERENT FROM THEATERS.
Baseball isn't up against the same proposition which has come near ambushing and dismantling the theaters. The latter are confronted by a combined assault by the movies and the dance craze. The movies cut in baseball slightly--but not an awful lot, as there is no night competition where the movie interest is at its height.

And while the dance still lingers through the summer it loses something of its zest when the thermometer begins to tap 85 to 92. A few hardy souls plug at it with the same mild enthusiasm. And even these are not inclined to overplay the game in summer afternoons. Our idea of nothing to do embraces 400 or 5,000 different things, and one of them is to whirl through the stonous and clammy mazes of the Maxine on a sultry summer afternoon.

No baseball has to a large extent escaped the competition which has jolted the theater, and while some new devotee later on may cut in heavily on the game, there is no visible sign of it just now. And sufficient unto the day is the worry thereof.

League Starts Season Today

The second annual season of the Georgia-Alabama league will start today with games in the following cities: Rome in Talladega; Selma in Anniston; Gadsden in Newman and Opelika in LaGrange.
This little new league was formed last year with a circuit of six clubs and had a successful season. This year it has been increased to an eight club league by the addition of two other cities.
The opening games in all four towns will be well attended as there is much rivalry between them as to which is the best ball town.
Several Atlanta boys have signed contracts with teams in this league and their playing will be watched with interest.

Crackers Win With Doscher Pitching Well

Bill Smith's Men Fall on Forest More in the First Inning and Score Four Runs--Final Count, 4 to 2--Smith Chased by Umps

NASHVILLE, May 4.—With Jack Doscher pitching in his usual good form, the Crackers annexed another victory at the expense of the Nashville club yesterday. There was a fairly large Sunday crowd present, about 4,000 passing through the turnstiles. Ted Lynch, who was confined to his bed Saturday, was again in the line-up, playing center field.

The Crackers sewed up the game in the very first inning, getting four runs in that inning. The final score was 4 to 2. The Vols got two across the plate in the fifth inning.

Forrest More opened up the game for Nashville, but after the Crackers had tallied four times with one out, he was taken out and Reuter sent in. Reuter had lots of speed, and a good assortment of curves to mix in, and got away in great style. We could not even come close to scoring 40 him.

Jack Doscher pulled out of a hole in the fifth shape in the eighth inning. Sloan was called safe after he had run to second base, but he was called out, and Jack tightened up and dropped a pop fly. Reuterway hit safely to center, but Jack tightened up and McVetta hit into a double play.

Billy Smith kicked very strenuously on the Sloan decision, and was ordered off the field by Umpire Chestnut. The decision, however, did not cost any runs, so the two parties will be in the clubhouse today. In the first inning McConnell opened the game with the single and went to third when Jennings followed with a double. Gibel popped to the catcher and Kirchner scoring to third. Kirchner scored second. Flanagan tripled to deep left, scoring Jennings and Kirchner. Flanagan scored when Holland singled.

Lindsay doubled to right in the fifth and after Smith and Reuter had gone out on one base, he scored on King's single to center. King scored on Callahan's hit to first base in right.

In the seventh inning Reuter had the star catch of the day when he climbed up the hill in right and robbed Lynch of a two-base hit.

Ferryman and Dunn will be our battery for today's game.

PRES. BARROW WANTS BIG LEAGUE BERTH FOR ORIOLES

BALTIMORE, May 4.—Baltimore will be in a big league, recognized by organized baseball, if the plans of Edward Barrow do not go astray. The league president and the local magnate have again opened fire on the international commission and it is predicted that within the next week this city will be in another major league.

Barrow attended the opening game of the international league season here last week and was amazed at the small attendance. He assured Dunn that something would be done for his interests and returned to New York with the intention of asking the commission to remove the draft. Manager Dunn expects something to break within the next week. Conditions in Baltimore are of such a nature that action must be taken immediately, as every game is a dead loss to the local club. In the four games played with Buffalo the total attendance was less than 1,200. With a guarantee to pay large salaries to players and other expenses, organized baseball must come to Dunn's rescue. Bar Johnson refused to help the international league last year by removing the draft. The Federal league that time was beginning to bid and Dunn realized he would be up against a tough proposition in this city.

ENGLISH RELAY VICTORY A TONES FOR OUMET'S KICK

BY RUON S. FULLERTON.
England has avenged the defeat of Vardon and Ray by Oumet. As the Brookline school boy's feat in outgunning and outplaying the British Veterans stood out as the most dramatic event of the sporting world of 1913, the victory of A. N. S. Jackson at the finish of the four-mile relay race at the Penn campus will go down in the archives as the most dramatic event of this year.

Imagine the scene: A polling rainstorm; a muddy, treacherous track, slippery at the top, Penn's magnificent team of milers--Bacon, Lawner, Maders and McCurdy leading, the Osonians, Sproule, Gaudin, Taber and Jackson, grimly hanging to the leaders, with the men of Cornell and Penn State already hopelessly beaten by the desperate pace under the conditions.

At the third mile McCurdy, the game little Penn captain, leaped from the touch, with Jackson, the hero of the 1,500 metre at Stockholm, 22 yards behind--and a mile to the finish.

Inch by inch, running desperately, McCurdy crept closer. The experts thought that McCurdy was saving his strength to stall off the final sprint of the Oxonian, but McCurdy was running his best and true to his own record, though that mud and rain, and still Jackson gained.

McCurdy sprang to the sprint 200 yards from the tape. McCurdy had thrown on all strength, all stamina, had the heart and end, and to the amazement of the spectators, Jackson, who had been on his toes at a sprinting pace for 220 yards, replied with a greater burst of speed. He wore down inch by inch.

Fifty yards out McCurdy led by only a foot, and strode for stride they came down, neither faltering, neither wavering, running their hearts out, and at the last yard Jackson, with a great leap, hurled himself past the Penn captain, breaststruck the cotton thread just before McCurdy's chest came to it--and he was exhausted, into the arms of his friends.

They had run the four miles in 18.05, only ten seconds slower than the American record, and that through rain and mud that cut at least twenty-five seconds off the time.

A Thought For Today

Piel's Dortmunder

"Reminiscences of America and Its Brewing Industry"

The Piel Brewery was the first American Brewery which I visited right at the outset of my journey abroad, and hence it was really not surprising that I exclaimed:

"WHY ALL THIS IS REALLY THE SAME AS IN OUR OWN GERMAN BREWERIES, ONLY SOMEWHAT MORE PROGRESSIVE AND PRACTICAL."

"But I am, at my first brewery inspection, I had happened into a TYPICAL GERMAN BREWERY. Later on in my visits, it was to discover ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCES from what I had here learned to know."

"As with the brewery, so were my experiences with their beers, and I repeat at this point what I have already stated, that of all PURE BEER I have drunk in America the beer of Piel Brewery received my highest praise."

Schoolboys to Take Part in Fair

New York Schoolboy Athletes Will Participate at World's Fair in Frisco

NEW YORK, May 4.—The department of athletics of the Panama Pacific International exposition is in receipt of a letter from Dr. C. Ward Crampton, director of physical training in the New York public schools and secretary of the Public Schools Athletic league, which reads as follows:
"I have carefully analyzed the tentative program for the athletic events to be conducted during the exposition in 1915. This program appeals to me strongly on account of its recognition of the importance of schoolboy athletics which have become an organon part of school life during the past ten years."

"Arrangements are being made which I expect will result in New York City public schools sending worthy representation to defend the Olympic championship trophy which we have held for ten years."

"It is quite probable that every large center where the public schools are in operation have taken part in the movement. At the present time it is planned to devote ten days or two weeks to the activities of the Public School athletic leagues throughout the country."

Vote for Jeff Hightower, a clean business man, for county commissioner.

Eighty-five per cent of the people voted for the salary system for state and county officials of Fulton county;
also fifteen separate Grand Juries condemned the "VI-CIOUS FEE SYSTEM."

A. P. Stewart defied the people and the Grand Juries. A vote for Charles I. Branan for tax collector is a vote for the "Salary System."
